

MICHIGAN HORIZONS

CRISIS DEMOCRACY CONVERSATIONS ON POLITICS IN AMERICA (SYMPOSIUM)

This symposium will encourage the university community to reflect on, interpret, and imagine the future of political participation, inclusion and expression.

December 6, 2017 | Hatcher Library Gallery (Room 100)

2:00 p.m.

FUTURES OF LAW AND POLITICAL INCLUSION

Jowei Chen (University of Michigan)
Ellen D. Katz (University of Michigan)
Reuben Miller (University of Chicago)

4:00 p.m.

FUTURES OF FREE SPEECH, SAFE SPACE, AND POLITICAL EXPRESSION

Matthew Countryman (University of Michigan)
Christina Hanhardt (University of Maryland)
LaKisha Simmons (University of Michigan)

December 7, 2017 | Hatcher Library Gallery (Room 100)

12:00 p.m.

FUTURES OF DEMOCRATIC SOCIAL MOVEMENTS

Cedric de Leon (Tufts University)
Jessica Garrick (University of Michigan)
Maria Coteria (University of Michigan)

2:00 p.m.

DEMOCRATIC FUTURES AT MICHIGAN: A DISCUSSION WITH LOCAL ORGANIZERS

Jamie Thompson (Students4Justice)
Maria Ibarra-Frayre (Washtenaw ID Project)
Joel Batterman (Motor City Freedom Riders)
Amina Kirk (Detroit People's Platform)

4:00 p.m.

KEYNOTE LECTURE: FUGITIVE DEMOCRACY REVISITED

Eddie S. Glaude Jr. (Princeton University)
Author of *Democracy in Black: How Race
Still Enslaves the American Soul* (2016)

This LSA Bicentennial Theme Semester symposium is presented with support from the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts and the University of Michigan Bicentennial Office. Additional support provided by the Department of History and the Eisenberg Institute for Historical Studies. The Eddie S. Glaude Jr. Keynote Lecture is presented with support from Afroamerican and African Studies, American Culture, History, Institute for the Humanities, Joseph A. Labadie Collection, Rackham Graduate School Dean's Initiative, Philosophy, and Sociology.

