

MICHIGAN HORIZONS

A LONG HISTORY OF UNAUTHORIZED IMMIGRATION

The history of immigration in the United States is one of bans, quotas, restrictions, and exclusions. Immigrants have negotiated inconsistent and discriminatory definitions of authorized and unauthorized belonging and targeted restrictions on citizenship since the nation's founding. This symposium brings together scholars who will illuminate the historical experiences of Asian American, Latinx, African American, Muslim, Jewish, gendered, and sexualized immigrants from the late-nineteenth century to the mid-twentieth century.

October 12, 2017 | 11:30 a.m.

IMMIGRANTS AND NEWCOMERS: HISTORIC LIMITS TO DIVERSITY AT U-M (DISCUSSION)

3222 Angell Hall

Matthew Countryman (University of Michigan)
Karla Goldman (University of Michigan)
Jesse Hoffnung-Garskof (University of Michigan)
Brian Williams (University of Michigan)

October 13, 2017 | 10:00 a.m.

LEGAL NEGATIONS AND NEGOTIATIONS OF CITIZENSHIP (DISCUSSION)

1014 Tisch Hall

Libby Garland (Kingsborough Community College, The City University of New York) Kunal Parker (University of Miami School of Law) Anna Pegler-Gordon (Michigan State University)

October 13, 2017 | 1:00 p.m.

THE RACIAL AND SEXUAL POLITICS OF MIGRANCY AND BORDER CONTROL (DISCUSSION)

1014 Tisch Hall

Kelly Lytle Hernández (University of California, Los Angeles)

Eithne Luibhéid (University of Arizona) Lara Putnam (University of Pittsburgh)

October 13, 2017 | 3:00 p.m.

KEYNOTE: WHO MAKES AMERICA A NATION OF IMMIGRANTS?

1014 Tisch Hall

Mae Ngai (Columbia University)

This LSA Bicentennial Theme Semester event is presented with support from the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts and the University of Michigan Bicentennial Office. Additional support provided by Afroamerican and African Studies; American Culture; Anthropology; Arab and Muslim American Studies; Asian, Pacific Islander American Studies; Bentley Historical Library; Comparative Literature; Eisenberg Institute for Historical Studies; English Language and Literature; Frankel Center for Judaic Studies; History; Institute for the Humanities; Latino/a Studies; Latinx Studies Workshop; Office of Research; Rackham Graduate School Dean's Office; Romance Languages and Literatures; and William L. Clements Library.