The University of Michigan Komonjo Workshop 2018 Application

July 9, 2018 to August 3, 2018

Name:
Name: First	Last
Mailing Address:
city	state/province	postal code	country
Mobile phone #:	email:
2) ACADEMIC INFORMATION
GRADUATE STUDENTS
University/Department:
Location:
city	state	country
Degree Program (PhD/MA):
Date matriculated:	Degree expected:
Research Areas & Interests:
Advisor:
FACULTY/INDEPENDENT SCHOLARS
University or Institution/Department:
Title:

ALL APPLICANTS

Please describe your language training (none, fair, adequate, advanced):

Reminder: The language of the workshop is modern Japanese. For other items, please consider your reading abilities.

Native language:

Modern Japanese:	spoken:	_ reading:	writing:
Classical Japanese:		reading:	-
Kanbun (komonjo, diaries, et	tc.):	reading:	-
Modern Chinese:		reading:	-
Classical Chinese:		reading:	_

Dates of attendance:

Please note that funding assistance for housing will be prioritized for applicants attending both sessions, and depending on the number of applicants, we cannot guarantee accommodation support for those only attending one session.

 Session 1 (Late Medieval, 7/9~7/20, with Professor S. Sasamoto)
 Session 2 (Early Medieval, 7/23~8/3, with Professor S. Takahashi)

3) SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS

Graduate student applicants:

Please attach a statement (500 words max) identifying your goals for attending the workshop and how the study of komonjo and kanbun affects your research.

Please provide a letter of reference from your faculty advisor that addresses the importance of komonjo and kanbun to your research as well as describes your ability to speak and understand modern Japanese and your previous experience working with premodern Japanese and/or Chinese language and research materials.

Faculty/Independent scholar applicants:

Please provide an abbreviated CV and, if desired, please state what you wish to accomplish at this workshop.

All applicants:

If there is a particular type of document or specific work you are interested in reading, please list it and provide a citation (in the case of a particular document, include the name of the item and page number in your citation).

Application, research statement, and reference materials should be emailed by March 2, 2018 at the latest to the workshop organizer, Paula R. Curtis (prcurtis@umich.edu), cc Hitomi Tonomura (tomitono@umich.edu) with the subject line "komonjo workshop 2018 application materials".

4) LODGING AND COST INFORMATION

The University of Michigan Komonjo Workshop 2018 is free of charge to attend but a limited number of slots will be available.

Financial support covering the cost of living accommodations will be provided for full-month participants and may be available for part-time participants depending on the number of applicants. Participants will be housed in double and triple suites in the University of Michigan's Oxford Housing, a 15-minute walk to Hatcher Graduate Library, where the workshop will be held. Linen service will be provided and laundry machines are onsite. The estimated cost for one-session housing is $1,000.

The cost of travel and meals (aside from workshop welcome dinners) will not be provided. However, depending on the number of applicants, a partial travel grant may be available to graduate students. Those interested in a travel grant should indicate this below.

Please indicate your accommodation and travel plans below:

•	I plan to use University of Michigan accommodations
•	I plan to arrange my own accommodations
•	I would like to be considered for partial travel assistance (if available)

Please direct any further questions to Paula R. Curtis (prcurtis@umich.edu), cc Hitomi

Tonomura (tomitono@umich.edu).

The University of Michigan Komonjo Workshop is generously sponsored by:

The University of Michigan Center for Japanese Studies The University of Michigan International Institute The Northeast Asia Council (NEAC) of the Association for Asian Studies The University of Michigan Department of History The University of Michigan Asia Library The University of Michigan Japanese Studies Interdisciplinary Colloquium The Eisenberg Institute for Historical Studies The University of Michigan Medieval and Early Modern Studies Program