

CHINA between WORLDS

The Republic, the Civil War, and the Early PRC Through the Eyes of the Shanghai American School

9 am – 3:30 pm / May 8-9 / 2017

U-M Michigan League

911 N University Ave, Ann Arbor

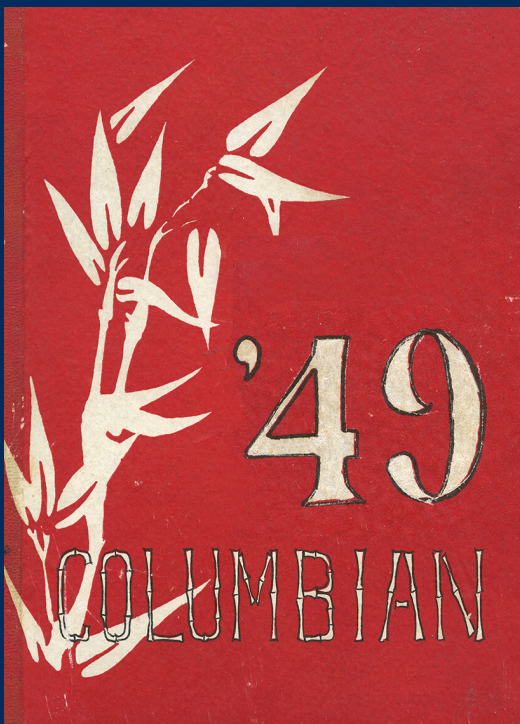

Free and open to the public

This symposium merges cutting-edge Michigan scholarship on China's modern history with the lived experiences and memories of the Shanghai American School's surviving post-WWII alumni.

The program will feature LRCCS-affiliated faculty and graduate students, visiting international graduate students, and Dr. Xiaoxin Wu from the Ricci Institute for Chinese-Western Cultural History (University of San Francisco).

Ambassador J. Stapleton Roy will give the keynote address.

KENNETH G. LIEBERTHAL AND RICHARD H. ROGEL
CENTER FOR CHINESE STUDIES
UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

Hosted by the U-M Lieberthal-Rogel Center for Chinese Studies, Department of History, Asia Library, Eisenberg Institute for Historical Studies, and the Shanghai American School