Comments about the weekend

How the program has fulfilled original goals

Going forward

Grace Cho

Grace Cho is an analyst at the Government Accountability Office, where she has worked on a wide range of issues, including housing, higher education, and national security.

She had the privilege of working with the MIW program during its first year (2004-2005) as a graduate student in Michigan's political science department. During that year, she helped get the MIW program up and running and had the great joy of working with the first cohort of MIW students to find internships in Washington. She is very happy to see the MIW program celebrate its fifth anniversary! Grace is a native of the Washington, DC, area.

Ms. Cho received a Master's degree in Political Science from the University of Michigan and is currently completing a dissertation in American politics.

Brett Di Resta

Over the past few cycles, Brett Di Resta has been a part of some of the biggest wins for Democratic campaigns, working for the victorious campaigns of Michigan Gov. Jennifer Granholm and Virginia Gov. Tim Kaine. The research and strategy he provides is an integral part of many Democratic campaigns.

Before founding the firm in 1999, Brett Di Resta was involved in research and communications work. He served as Deputy Research Director for Tom Andrews and Charles Schumer in 1994 and 2002.

Mr. Di Resta has published articles in The American Prospect, written and produced ads for the PAC Americans for America, and has appeared on national television. He is an adjunct professor at George Washington University where he lectures on opposition research and campaigns.

Mr. Di Resta graduated from the University of Michigan with a B.A. in political science.

John Dugan

John C. Dugan recently completed his service as Comptroller of the Currency. The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency is an agency which supervises over 1,500 national banks and federal branches that hold nearly two-thirds of the assets of the commercial banking system. During his five-year term, Mr. Dugan led the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) through the financial crisis and ensuing recession that resulted in extraordinary regulatory and supervisory actions for national banks of all sizes, including government assistance provided under the Troubled Asset Relief Program (TARP); resolutions of large, mid-size, and community banks; and the successful implementation of regulatory “stress tests” for the very largest financial institutions.

He also served on the Board of Directors of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), as Assistant Secretary for Domestic Finance at the U.S. Department of the Treasury, and as Counsel and Minority General Counsel for the U.S. Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

A 1977 University of Michigan graduate with an A.B. in English literature, Mr. Dugan earned his J.D. from Harvard Law School in 1981.
