Dr. Clague has never brushed off any, perhaps silly, or non-complete ideas for research, and has always encouraged me to be searching for things on my own. Because of Dr. Clague, I feel like I am an experienced researcher in the humanities field. I came in freshman year fearing the professors in thoughts that they would be strict and not care about small problems, Dr. Clague certainly changed my mind about that. He has always given me advice on how to further push myself to find even more. Dr. Clague has shaped my skills as a student researcher over the past two years and I am very proud of my abilities.
