

Judaic Studies Independent Study

The Frankel Center for Judaic Studies offers independent study courses in Judaic Studies and Yiddish. Independent study sections can only be offered if the intended area of study is NOT already a regular part of the department's course offerings. (LSA policy)

FOR THE STUDENT:

A proposal must be submitted in which the student outlines in detail the work he/she wishes to do with the instructor. The following must be included within the proposal:

1. Student name

2. Student ID number

3. Student email address

4. Name of instructor

5. Narrative description of proposed course of study (1-2 paragraphs)

6. Number of credits (1 credit = 3 hours of work per week)

7. Reading List

8. Course requirements (paper, project...)

This form with the aforementioned items and signature of the instructor must be returned to 2111 STB. It will then be sent to the Director for approval. The student will be notified via email of the decision.
