

Nicolas Florez

University of Michigan
nhflorez@umich.edu
nflorez.com

Education

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI PhD expected 2028
Political Science (American Politics; Research Methods)
Dissertation: Off the Rails: How Anti-Black Racism Rerouted Metropolitan America's Transit Paths
Committee: Charles Shipan (Co-Chair), Nicholas Valentino (Co-Chair), Christian Fong, Robert Manduca, Robert Mickey, Tyler Simko

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, CA 2022
B.A. Political Science
B.S. Communications (Multimedia Journalism)

Affiliations

- Student Affiliate, Stone Center for Inequality Dynamics | University of Michigan
- Graduate Student Affiliate, Consortium on the American Political Economy

Journal Articles

Florez, Nicolas and Christian Fong. 2026. "Cover Bills." Legislative Studies Quarterly.

Turcotte, Jason; Lauren Furey; Omar J. Garcia-Ortega; Nicolas Florez; Carissa Siccione; Emily Stephenson. 2021. "The Novelty News Frame." Newspaper Research Journal.

Book Chapters

Turcotte, Jason, and Nicolas Florez. 2023. "How Journalistic Objectivity Turns Matters of Science into (Subjective) Matters of Politics: A Closer Look at Climate Change and COVID-19 Reporting." In Issues in Contemporary American Journalism, edited by H. C. Schmidt. Taylor & Francis.

Work in Progress

Anti-Black Roots of Routes: Great Migration Exposure and Regional Public Transit Legacies

Teaching Experience

University of Michigan
Graduate Student Instructor

- Political Science Research Design (Robert Mickey), Winter 2025
- Introduction to American Politics (Kenny Lowande), Fall 2024
- Modeling Politics (Ken Kollman), Winter 2024

- U.S. Legislative Politics (Christian Fong), Fall 2023

Presentations

“Anti-Black Roots of Routes: Great Migration Exposure and Regional Public Transit Legacies.” APSA, Boston, September 2026.

“Anti-Black Roots of Routes: Great Migration Exposure and Regional Public Transit Legacies.” Consortium on the American Political Economy Junior Working Group, remote presentation, April 2026.

“Off the Rails: Racial Diversity and American Public Transit Provision.” Consortium on the American Political Economy Summer Academy, Berkeley, May 2025.

“Racialized Provision and Preferences of American Mass Transit.” Third-Year Conference, University of Michigan, February 2025.

“Enabling Compromise.” APSA, Philadelphia, September 2024.

Fellowships and Awards

APSA Diversity Fellowship, 2021–2022. ($2,000)

Rackham Graduate School Conference Travel Grant, University of Michigan, 2024. ($900)

Rackham Graduate Student Research Grant (Pre-Candidate), University of Michigan, 2025. ($1,500)

Converse and Miller Fellowship in American Political Behavior, University of Michigan, 2026. ($6,000)

Gerald R. Ford Fellowship and Research Grant, University of Michigan, 2026-2027. ($2,500)

Russell Sage Foundation Dissertation Research Grant, 2026-2027. ($15,500)

Rackham Graduate School Conference Travel Grant, University of Michigan, 2026. ($900)

APSA Diversity Fellowship Program Travel, Research, and Development Grant, 2026 ($550)

Technical Skills

Statistical Analysis: R (`tidyverse`, `sf`)

Survey Platforms: Qualtrics

Writing: L^AT_EX, Zotero